Activity a Complete Surprise Coming Before a Holiday-New High Records Made.

New York, Dec. 31.-The stock market day furnished an appropriate closing one of the most spectacular years in a history of Wall Street. On heavy hares new hig. records were made in many issues, with gains ranging from 4 to more than 8 points in the specialties. The increased breadth of the market to more than a points in the spectars. The increased breadth of the market was dus to the favorable reply from Austria to the American Ancona note. The activity was a distinct surprise, inasmuch as markets preceding a holiday are usually dult and uninteresting.

Opening prices showing gains ranging from a fraction to 2 points reflected the betterment in sentiment resulting from the Austrian note. The upward trend continued under leadership of the oil continued under leadership of the oil shares up to the early afternoon, when proft-taking resulted in slight recessions. The aggressive buying movement, however, was resumed in the late dealngs, and final prices were around the
